
We hope you will find something of great interest on this website, whether or not it will be to your liking. Wartune Private Server has been designed with members and users in mind and we want to help everyone achieve their dreams and goals. Wartune Private Server is a website where members can equip themselves for an adventure that they imagine, as if they were playing a game. Members create characters that are capable of learning skills just like those found in the best RPG games such as Skyrim, World of Warcraft, Dungeons & Dragons, and many other popular video games. The following guide will walk you through the steps to take in order to build your character. The first step is to select a character name. Make sure that the name you choose is a unique username that no other member has used or that you will not find already taken by another player. We highly recommend that you do not use any common names such as John, Mary, Sean, Mary Ann, Harry, Harry Potter, etc. These names are currently being used by other members and may be confusing if someone else already has these as their username. You should also make sure you check for spelling errors as all members should follow the same rules as those found on popular video games such as World of Warcraft and Dungeons & Dragons. You can do this by finding and deleting all of those lowercase letters. The next step is to select a character's sex, age, and the body type that you want for your character. If you enter a different race than those available to your region, your race will be randomly selected as the ones available in the region. The following races are currently available: Humans, Elves, Dwarves, Orcs, Hobbits, Gnomes, Halflings and Tieflings. After all the required selections have been made you will automatically be taken to a "character creation" page where you can customize all aspects of your character. The first thing that will appear after clicking on "Create Character" is the page overview. On this page you can view your character's information and change whatever you like. You can also check the tutorial that will guide you through the steps to take in order to create a character. The next step is selecting your class which will depend on the type of class that best suits your character concept and/or role within a group or party. Each class has their own advantages and disadvantages, some are good at defense while others focus more on attack. Different classes serve different purposes in battle and it is up to you to decide which one is suitable for you.

There are two types of characters: Player Characters (PC) and Non-Player Characters (NPC). Players create their PC from scratch using the website "Character Creation" page. They can then level up, learn skills and eventually they will be able to fight in real-time 3D battles against mobs and other players. NPCs are generated by the server and cannot be controlled by players, they perform actions based on their own AI. The most common action an NPC does is attacking its target and/or moving towards it while it does so. NPCs also perform many of the same actions as a player such as: Mining for resources, cooking meals that grant buffs, repairing equipment, changing clothes and even restocking.
